General Information

The House
Sir Richard Edgcumbe of Cotehele built a new home in his deer park at Mount Edgcumbe in 1547-53. Miraculously the walls of his red stone Tudor House survived the war damage in 1941 and it was restored by the 6th Earl between 1958-64. It is now beautifully furnished with family possessions.

Gardens and Park
The Country Park was created in 1971, covering over 865 acres it is jointly owned by Cornwall Council and Plymouth City Council. Mount Edgcumbe has been famous since the 18th century for its landscape and gardens. The formal gardens are grouped in the lower park near Cremyll. Originally a 17th century “wilderness” garden the present scheme was laid out by the Mount Edgcumbe family in the 18th century.

The formal gardens in the lower park The gardens and park offer beautiful backdrops for wedding photographs.

Car Parking
Horseshoe Cottage has dedicated parking right outside the front door for up to two cars. Further parking is available in the Barrow Centre Car Park a two minute stroll away.

If you’re staying at Cremyll Lodge, complimentary parking is available for one car in Cremyll Car Park conveniently located only a few 100 yards away.
